

PRIVATE SOVEREIGN NOTICE & COMMERCIAL ENFORCEMENT

FINAL ADMINISTRATIVE PACKAGE

Kevin Brady McLean v. State Actors

Date: May 15, 2025

To: governorrn.desantis@cog.myflorida.com, corphelp@dos.myflorida.com

From: Kevin Brady McLean

Re: Final Enforcement Packet & Permanent Commercial Record

Comes now I, Kevin Brady McLean, a living man, holder in due course, secured party creditor, and beneficiary of the private express trust associated with the DEBTOR(S) styled as KEVIN BRADY MCLEAN / KEVIN B MCLEAN, delivering herein lawful notice of administrative closure, default, and permanent estoppel as it pertains to unrebutted claims made under UCC-1 Financing Statement and collateral documents delivered April 29, 2025.

Pursuant to lawful right, I tender this final packet establishing that:

- The DEBTOR(S) are secured by perfected private interest
- The Office of Governor failed to rebut timely, entering into dishonor and default
- Said failure results in estoppel by acquiescence under Uniform Commercial Code, Equity Jurisprudence, and American Common Law

Supporting Authority:

1. Hale v. Henkel, 201 U.S. 43 (1906) - On private standing and individual sovereignty
2. Clearfield Trust Co. v. United States, 318 U.S. 363 (1943) - Government as private commercial actor
3. Bond v. United States, 564 U.S. 211 (2011) - Right to assert personal sovereignty
4. Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436 (1966) - Presumption of consent rebuttable only with full disclosure
5. Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. 137 (1803) - Acts repugnant to the Constitution are void

This package is being delivered by private means and made public through timestamped public repository. Further silence shall constitute continued default, breach of fiduciary trust, and actionable trespass.

Respectfully submitted for record and remedy,

Kevin Brady McLean

Secured Party Creditor, Beneficiary

All Rights Reserved, Without Prejudice, UCC 1-308

ESTOPPEL BY DEFAULT & ACQUIESCENCE

Let it be known and understood that failure to rebut or respond to the original notice within the prescribed 14-calendar-day period constitutes tacit admission, dishonor by silence, and permanent estoppel by acquiescence.

As such, the recipient(s) are hereby barred and estopped from any future claims, presumptions, or assertions contrary to the facts, declarations, and status affirmed by the undersigned in the original and final notices.

This estoppel applies to any and all future administrative or legal attempts to enforce, presume, or assign obligations, liabilities, or representations upon the DEBTOR(S) or the living man Kevin Brady McLean without the express written consent and full commercial liability of the undersigned.

By their silence, they have agreed.

By their default, they have bound themselves.

By this estoppel, they are barred.

PRIVATE INDEMNITY BOND

Kevin Brady McLean - UCC-1 Secured Party Collateral Instrument

Bond Number: KBM-UCC-2025-IND

Effective Date: May 15, 2025

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

This Private Indemnity Bond is issued by Kevin Brady McLean, a living man and Secured Party Creditor, for the protection and indemnification of all parties dealing with the legal person(s), estate(s), and account(s) identified in UCC-1 Financing Statement filed under the name KEVIN BRADY MCLEAN and KEVIN B MCLEAN.

Whereas the above-named estate(s) are secured via perfected interest, and all rights, title, and claim reside with the living beneficiary;

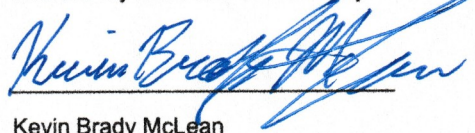

NOW THEREFORE:

1. This bond underwrites all lawful dealings and interactions with the DEBTOR(S) named in said filings.
2. Any party, public or private, acting upon or claiming against the DEBTOR(S) without verified authorization and consent of the Secured Party shall be held personally liable and subject to this bond.
3. This bond protects the Secured Party against unlawful claims, fraudulent enforcement, identity misrepresentation, and breach of trust.
4. The coverage of this bond is unlimited as to duration and scope and attaches to all administrative, commercial, and legal processes.

This bond is governed by:

- UCC 1-308, 1-103
- Contract law and private trust law
- Supreme Court precedent on standing and equity (e.g., Clearfield Trust Co., Hale v. Henkel)

Witness my hand and seal this day:

BONDED PROMISSORY NOTE

Promissory Note Number: KBM-BOND-001

Date: May 15, 2025

FOR VALUE RECEIVED, I, Kevin Brady McLean, a living man and Secured Party Creditor, hereby issue this Private Promissory Note in the principal amount of:

Ten Million Dollars USD ($10,000,000.00)

This note is backed by my perfected UCC-1 Financing Statement and the collateral interests, both tangible and intangible, associated with the DEBTOR(S) listed therein.

Terms and Conditions:

This Note is payable upon lawful demand by any assignee, fiduciary, or bearer in possession who has accepted commercial redemption of the instrument.

This Note may be assigned, transferred, or pledged as collateral at the discretion of the issuer.

This is a non-usurious, zero-coupon, interest-free instrument redeemable in equity or commercial offset.

This Note is issued as a lawful tender in private contract, for the purpose of settlement, setoff, or financial security.

This Promissory Note is issued in good faith under penalty of perjury and pursuant to my lawful right to issue private credit and instruments as Secured Party and Beneficiary.
